

Friend,

We know that many people in our communities and our families have a lot of questions regarding the lawsuit against President Obama's immigration action.

The iAmerica team has put together this infographic below on the timeline of the lawsuit to guide you through what has happened so far and what is next.

We know you might be asking yourself: What will happen now to #ImmigrationAction? While the lawsuit will take some time to be resolved, we are confident that expanded DACA (aka DACA+) and DAPA will ultimately prevail in the courts.

In the meantime, let's make your voice and America stronger:

1. Get ready to apply. For those who are DAPA eligible, have you started collecting the documents you will need for your application? Get started with the help of our sample letters to request for certain types of records and our DAPA Checklist, which gives you a list of ways to prove your presence in the United States—one of the most important aspects of the application process.

2. Register to vote. Whether you are eligible (as in, you are a U.S. citizen) or someone you know is eligible, it's time to register to vote. This lawsuit shows us how important it is to elect leaders who will stand for – not against – our community. Encourage any friends and family you know who are eligible to vote to register today.

We have a lot more information and resources on the way so stay tuned!

Sincerely,

iAmerica

Timeline: From Texas to #ImmigrationAction

What Just Happened and What's Next for DAPA/DACA+

Nov. 20, 2014

President Obama announces new executive action on immigration.

Dec. 3, 2014

Texas and other states file lawsuit in a federal court in TX against Obama's executive action.

Feb. 16, 2015

No surprise: Ultra-conservative Judge Hanen in Texas rules to grant the injunction blocking DAPA/DACA+

Feb. 25, 2015

Pres. Obama in a televised immigration town hall: "We are going to appeal aggressively... the law is on our side."

Feb. 23, 2015

Department of Justice (DOJ) strikes back with an "emergency stay" to lift the judge's injunction against DAPA/DACA+.

Feb. 17, 2015

Families & advocates hold actions across the country: Si Se Puede! #IAmAmerica

Mar. 9, 2015

As expected, Judge Hanen refuses to rule on DOJ's "stay." Sets a hearing for March 19th.

Mar. 12, 2015

Undeterred, DOJ takes next step, asks the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals to lift order against DAPA/DACA+ as 14 states and D.C. file an amicus brief in support of the #ImmigrationAction

Coming Soon...
DACA+ and DAPA will prevail in the courts!
#IAmReady
Are you?

iAmerica.org

Your source for trusted information on #ImmigrationAction.

