"We live in a society that has a system that works to keep people poor. Something has to change and we, as Christians, are called to make that change. I have become compelled to make a change. After working in this program, I changed my major... and I have never been more thrilled about my education and my future."

Ministry isn't just for ministers!
(Neither is this internship.)

Whatever your field of study, there's a way for you to contribute to a better world. Art Therapy to Zoology, if you're looking for something life-changing to do this summer, consider this: 10 weeks in a place you've maybe never been, doing things you maybe never imagined, with people you've probably never met. And meeting yourself somewhere along the way.

It's about leadership, about self-awareness, about taking a fresh look at the world we share.
